The Indian River Soil & Water Conservation District announces The 2012 Poetry Contest!

Topic: “Soil to Spoon”

This contest is open to all Indian River County students in grades 3, 4 and 5.

Poems can be of any style and length. All submissions need to be clearly written on an 8 ½ x 11-inch sheet of paper and must have a completed entry form attached. The actual topic does not have to be the title of the poem, but the poem needs to pertain to the subject. We encourage each student to do their own work, although they may receive help in planning their work from their parents or teachers.

First, second and third place awards will be presented in each grade level. First place winning poems will be showcased at the IRC Firefighters’ Fair and at Sebastian’s Earth Day Celebration.

All poem submissions are due in the Conservation District Office by Wednesday, February 29th, 2012. Judging will take place on Monday, March 12th, 2012.

This contest is sponsored by the Indian River Soil and Water Conservation District. Entry forms can be downloaded from our website at www.irccdd.com/swcd or requested by contacting Brenda Davis at 772-770-5005 or by email at brendadavis@ircgov.com.

This contest is open to public, private and home schooled students.
